PRICE: TWO CENTS

MOC HOUSE OPEN TO SKIERS THIS WINTER

When the skiing season begins, skiers of all sorts may make use of M.O.C. house in Shawbridge; every year many people take advantage of the free ski lessons given every Sunday for McGill students in Shawbridge.

From now until there is enough snow for skiing there will be groups hiking and clearing the ski trails. This coming week-end they will leave the house Saturday afternoon and Sunday morning. Weather permissible, there will also be people rock-climbing at Val David or Ste. Marguerite.

The McGill Outing Club held the Gen Night in the Union yesterday, in which the leaders of the various club activities described what they did.

During the meeting, Dick Avison described the Woodsman's week-end, which is becoming more and more popular. This year fourteen teams entered; coming from Laval, Middlebury, Dartmouth, Sir George Williams College, MacDonald College as well as several McGill teams. The competition involves felling a tree, sawing it into lengths — splitting the logs.

The first of the club's bi-weekly square dances was held after the meeting. The next square dance will be held on Wednesday, November 16, in the Union Ballroom. They will be held every two weeks throughout the winter.

BOLSHEVIST BALL TO BE HELD SATURDAY NIGHT

Marvin Jay and his orchestra will provide the music while the atmosphere will be strictly Bolshevik at the final football dance, the Queen's Dance, or as it is termed, the Bolshevik Ball. It will be held this Saturday from 9 to 12 in the Sir Arthur Currie Gymnasium.

There will be an Iron Curtain on the walls, and a rocket as a satellite will be launched. By looking through the loop-holes of the Iron Curtain, everybody will see "What's Behind the Iron Curtain." Don MacSween as chairman of the Dance Committee urges all students to attend. Admission will be one dollar.

NEWMAN CLUB BALL

"New Era" will be the theme of the coming Ball sponsored by the Newman Club. The Juan de Costa Orchestra will supply music. This scene was taken from a previous Newman Club Ball.

DEBATING COMMITTEE TO HOLD TOURNAMENT

Entries are now being accepted for the annual Arts and Science Senior Debating Tournament which is scheduled to get underway late in November. The contest is open to experienced speakers, but Freshman or novice debaters will not be eligible.

The winners and runner-ups will receive a trip to an American university, and also will be given a trophy and smaller replicas of it. It is suggested that entries be submitted in teams. Those interested can see George at the Tuck Shop for further details, as to time and place. All entries close Nov. 10, and then become the property of the Debating Committee. Any questions as to eligibility, shall be decided by the Chairman of this Committee.

Freshmen debaters will get another chance to speak sometime in the second term, but anyone entering the Senior class is ineligible for the Novice Tournament.

MUSIC CLUB PLANS PARTY AND CONCERT

The Music Club will hold its first party of the year tomorrow. It will take place in the Club Room of the Union at 8 pm. The party will be stag or drag and the dress will be informal. There will be music, dancing, and refreshments.

NATIONAL TEACHER EXAMINATIONS-FEBRUARY

The National Teacher Examinations, prepared and administered annually by Educational Testing Service, will be given at 200 testing centers throughout the United States on Saturday, February 11, 1956.

At the one-day testing session a candidate may take the Common Examinations, which include tests in Professional Information, General Culture, English Expression, Non-verbal Reasoning; and one or two of ten Optional Examinations designed to demonstrate mastery of subject matter to be taught. The college which a candidate is attending, or the school system in which he is seeking employment, will advise him whether he should take the National Teacher Examinations and which of the Optional Examinations to select.

Application forms and a Bulletin of Information describing registration procedure and containing sample test questions may be obtained from college officials, school superintendents, or directly from the National Teacher Examinations, Educational Testing Service, 20 Nassau Street, Princeton, New Jersey. Completed applications, accompanied by proper examination fees, will be accepted by the ETS office during November and December, and in January so long as they are received before January 13, 1956.

COUNCIL DISCUSSES RIOTS, CAMPUS PARKING

by Bryna Feingold

A motion that 50 per cent of the net proceeds of Combined Charities should be given to WUSC was approved last night.

In former years two-thirds of the proceeds had been given to local charities, while WUSC received one-third. Local charities, which include the Welfare Fund, and Catholic, French, and Jewish organizations, received money in proportion to the religious denominations of students at McGill.

Speaking for the motion, Brandon Cheneault, Medicine representative, stated that "the surplus gained by WUSC would mean more to that organization than the corresponding loss in the sums given to local charities would mean to them."

Wilson Southan, Arts and Science representative, added the view that Combined Charities would benefit from the re-distribution of money, insofar as the appeal of WUSC was more readily adaptable to a University Appeal than the cause of other wealthier organizations.

"As students, we are raising money for other students, and this is as it should be," Southan added.

Opposing the motion was Mike Fish, Architecture representative, who stated that WUSC was already receiving donations from other Universities across the United States and Canada, and that local charities should continue to derive the benefit of the grants they had been formerly receiving.

Campus Parking

A motion was passed in principle that a charge for parking on the campus on Saturdays be initiated. The charge would be effective only during the football season, when spectators use the campus as a parking lot. It was felt that not too many complaints would be raised, as the fee would be considerably less than the cost of a parking ticket. A Committee was set up to look into the matter in further detail.

S.E.C. Appointment

Dave Conliffe, Music & Divinity representative, was appointed to the position of SEC representative to the McGill Students' Religious Council.

Football Riots

The problem of violence during football weekends was brought up by the Council. Wilson Southan stated that this year it had generally been the case that the majority of students was well-behaved, only a few instigated trouble.

It was decided that no official reception committee from McGill would be sent this weekend to meet the visiting football team. In the future, disciplinary action would be taken to deal with the offenders.

Student activity at the football game itself was discussed and deplored. Several recommendations would be sent to the Department of Athletics suggesting ways to deal with the problem. The Council felt that a movement of this kind was infinitely superior to adopting a laissez-faire attitude and thus indirectly chancing a suspension of eastern college football games.

JOBS SCARCE FOR HOLIDAYS

By Gordie Wasserman

Baby-sitting and dish-washing are the principle types of employment offered students for the Christmas holidays this year. According to Miss R. Peltier, assistant to the Director of the Placement Service, students can earn a dollar an hour at either of these jobs during the holiday season.

In former years, many students were employed by the Post Office helping with holiday mail. This is no longer the case as a new policy has been adopted limiting the number of students from each university on their holiday payroll. 100 names have been submitted for consideration this year.

Baby-sitting on New Year's Eve pays a dollar an hour with a $5.00 minimum. Christmas Eve tot-watching and Christmas day dish-washing pay at the same rate but do not guarantee the student a set minimum fee. An estimated 75 to 100 students will earn extra money at these jobs during the winter vacation.

Employment as auxiliary sales staff in the large department stores is extremely difficult to secure. The stores prefer to hire full-time employees during the month of November and find no need for extra help by the time college student is free in December.

Odd jobs are available for students throughout the school year. Anyone interested in any form of part-time employment including summer work should register with the Placement Service.

Reduced Rates Made Available

Tickets at reduced rates for the music show "Words and Music" starring James Melton are now available for McGill students. The show runs until Sunday, Nov. 6. The reductions are 25 per cent for some seats in the orchestra and balcony and are for all performance nights.

They may be bought at the box office on presentation of library card.

Reduced rates are available for tonight, tomorrow night and Thursday night performances of Marcel Marceau, who is playing at the Monument Nationale. They can also be purchased upon presentation of library card at the Box Office.

Editorial

YOU AND YOUR DOLLAR

Last night the Student's Executive Council decided to alter the allocation of monies obtained from the Combined Charities Campaign. The issue is an important one. The Combined Charities Campaign is the only charitable organization which officially solicits for student funds, and conducts only one fund raising drive a year. The campaign represents almost all of the students charitable efforts in any given year.

Last year the Combined Charities collected over $4,000 of which $3775.75 remained to be distributed after expenses were deducted. This is a fairly large sum by any standard. It is your money. The SEC is responsible to see that you get value for that money. This is a responsibility which they seem to be discharging with a good deal of wisdom and care.

In past years the monies have been distributed in a ratio of two to one. Two-thirds of the net amount going to local charities and one-third going to the World University Service. The latter organization attempts to care for specific student needs. They have done particularly fine work in the East. The SEC in the motion adopted felt that whereas the monies given to local charities were but a drop in a very large bucket the monies given to WUS stretched the charity dollar much further.

To quote the motion, "each dollar contributed toward projects sponsored by . . . WUS is equalled or rivaled by physical work and mental efforts on the part of the recipient students to make such money accomplish as much as possible."

With these thoughts in mind the SEC has decided to apportion the monies collected from the Combined Charities in a ratio of 1:1; that is half to WUS and half to local charities.

We cannot but applaud the decision; we feel as do the SEC that the student can perform a real and vital service in aiding the world student community, and from this service derive a real satisfaction which, perhaps, he would not otherwise receive.

A SHINING EXAMPLE

The Montreal Star is at present treating us to a series of articles about the private life of the late Adolf Hitler. These articles are written by the late Fuehrer's valet, who has just returned from eleven years in a Russian concentration camp.

For the last two or three days we have been told the more intimate details of Hitler's private life and have had before us the shining example of the devotion of Eva Braun.

Herr Linge the author of the series is also careful to show us throughout that he, too, was a devoted servant to his Fuehrer. Such examples of loyalty and devotion are no doubt the sort of reading that every intelligent daily newspaper ought to present to a wide audience. Readers can no doubt profit by the fine example illustrated in these articles, and Montreal parents must, indeed thank the Star for giving such attractive food for thought to their youngsters. Dandle little Tommy on your knee and say, "Tonight instead of the Burgess' Bedtime Story I shall read you Herr Linge's story so that you will know how good men behave in the face of adversity."

It has not been the intention of the Star to poison the minds of the very young. Naturally this series is intended for a slightly older group than are Reddy Fox and Johnny Chuck. Perhaps the Star has not intended to poison the minds of anyone. It is, indeed, very doubtful that the Star has poisoned the minds of anyone.

A very little bit of poison seems, however, to have made a great many people sick.

War Rages

Sir,

I have just read your editorial entitled "McGill Cold War" and it has left me anything but cold.

One cannot deny that the author of the editorial has a wonderful imagination, since over two-thirds of the article may be classed as pure imagination.

The temper of the editorial seems to be a combination of sarcasm and sophistry in speaking of "those learned pedagogues, as we call our professors", "a phalanx of unapproachables", who lecture from "ancient notes" and "scornfully resist all temptation to come down and meet the six thousand odd students who must digest the gens that come their way."

Upon reading the complaint that this is a "silent" generation I could only wish the author of this querulous article had been so; thereby meriting the description of being "silent" as a compliment, instead of a complaint.

The article proceeds to castigate the professors for their alleged disinterest in the students, describing the latter as "members of a sea of bored and ignorant aces".

Let me suggest that the editorial's author has taken a harsh, radical view of both groups, as is clearly evidenced by the quotations mentioned here.

And if there be any grounds for blame, and it is to be laid at the feet of one group, it would be well to remind ourselves that on the one hand we have a group of professors who are here by virtue of their being chosen by the university because they are specialists in their field (and any specialist enjoys explaining to a genuinely interested person the subject in which he has elected to specialize) and, on the other hand, a group of students who have not been chosen but, rather, have congregated here for a variety of reasons (ranging from the earnest to the absurd).

In closing, we might ask if the editor has not viewed the faculty with a jaundiced eye and imagined, when viewing his fellow-students (whose faces he described as "bored and ignorant") what meets his own eye upon looking in the mirror.

Harold G. Martin, M.A. I

Terms Moderated

Messrs. P. Coulter and

D. McSween,

Presidents EUS and ASUS

Gentlemen:

We of the School of Commerce were lightly amused by your answers to our article published in the November Daily. We naturally expected this type of evasion on your part as your reputations of big words and little actions were bound to come to the fore.

Your claim that we published this challenge only when assured of victory is ridiculous. We were always assured of victory. If you will re-read our original challenge of Oct. 24th, you will find that we even told you we were going to win.

However, now that we have been established as the superior crowd on campus, we will not lower ourselves to squabble with the anemics in our midst. We will therefore overlook the challenge entirely. If you feel, as you obviously do that you are weakened from loss of blood and face, we will lift you up and exonerate you from your state of humility. We feel that if the outcome of the race has served to let you see yourselves as you really are, rather than how you imagine you are, then our purpose has been achieved.

If on the other hand we have wronged you in our opinions you can right yourselves in the eyes of the College by accepting the following terms. These terms have been revised to be within the capabilities of people who were incapable of donating blood.

1. Tomorrow, Friday, November at 1 pm, you will huddle together outside your buildings and in orderly fashion, remembering the dignity of those you are about to honour, proceed to wash with mop and water your own steps which have been such objectional sights to the eyes of all esteemed Commencemen.

You will work together and do the Art's building first since they were second, and the Engineers' next. The reason for this is that we feel it might be too much for you to climb the hill to Purvis Hall and also that the energy should be expended where it is most required.

2. While scrubbing you will wear clothes which seem suitable for the occasion.

3. You will be placed on an honour system (hoping that while you have no blood you have some honour) to do a good job.

It is highly unlikely of course that we will see you but we will turn out in case you do find it within yourselves to do this.

Les Tisshaw,
President CUS.

Kingsbury Replies

Sir,

The St. Thomas reference Mr. Boylan wants comes from the SummaTheologica Part II, question 10, article 10, conclusion, which is about whether unbelievers may have authority over the Faithful. He states that the Church may dispose of Jewish possessions, and specifically refers to the freeing of Christian slaves owned by the Jews. It should be remembered that at this time slavery was unquestioned, except perhaps by the slaves, that slaves were just so much wealth, and that the Church did not question the right of a Christian to own a Jewish or Christian slave. Indeed, the Church was by far the biggest slave owner during St. Thomas' life and manumissions were very difficult to obtain.

St. Thomas certainly cannot be compared with the most bloody practioners of Christianity, but he was not a gentle soul, either. Murder did not much bother him. I quote Part II, question 11, article 3, conclusion. "There (is much reason) for heretics, as soon as they are convicted of heresy, to be not only excommunicated but even put to death." "She (the Church) condemns not at once, but after the first and second admonition; . . . if he is yet stubborn . . . the Church . . . delivers him to the secular tribunal to be exterminated from the world by death."

"Yet if heretics be altogether uprooted by death, this is not contrary to Our Lord's command . . ." He proves all these things, too. He proves a lot of things.

STRONG QUEEN'S CREW LOOM AS MAIN REDMEN OBSTACLE

The Queen's Golden Gaels are making a strong bid for their first championship since 1937. Their team this year is the strongest squad Queen's has fielded since 1937 when they last won the title.

Spearhead of the Gaels is Gus Braccia, a quarterback who came to Kingston via Temple University and the Ottawa Roughriders. Braccia is waging a stiff fight with Dick Carr of the Redmen for passing honours in the league this year.

There has been much talk of the three "S" of the Gaels which is generally considered to be the best in the intercollegiate loop. Ron attacking unit last year and have continued to impress this season.

Stewart, Gary Schreider, and Bill Surphlis first aroused notice as an

Stewart, second to Johnny Bennett of McGill in scoring, is a fast runner who likes to go around the ends. He is a tricky pass receiver as well. Schreider is a hard-running backfield ace who generally confines his running between the two tackle positions, but has also showed that he can run the ends and receive passes extremely well when called upon by Braccia. Surphlis is an all-around player who can run and receive with equal agility.

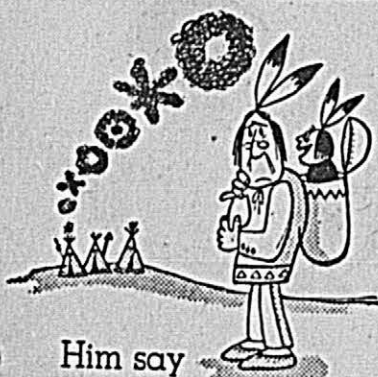

Jim Hughes, Gary Lewis, and Lou Bruce are the bastions of the Gaels' line. Hughes has been one of the league's outstanding tackles; Lewis is a veteran centre and captain of the Gaels; while Bruce is a top pass receiver and a frequent target for Braccia's passes.

NATO VS. U.N.; CLUB DEBATE

"Does NATO supplant the United Nations as a means to peace?" Everyone interested in hearing this topic discussed is invited to the UN club meeting to be held tomorrow at 1 pm in the Union Clubroom.

A panel of four undergraduate orators will be present to argue the subject. Norman Samuels, Co-Chairman of ASUS debating, and Brahm Campbell, one of the winners of the Senior Debating Trials, will uphold the negative.

Jim Lotz and Stu Smith, winner of the novice trials, will take the affirmative.

This debate-forum is the first of its kind to be sponsored by the United Nations Club. Those attending can participate in the discussion both during and after the speeches; inquiries may be addressed to members of the panel.

A special invitation is extended by the Club's President, David Franklin, for more students to participate in UN affairs through membership in the Club and the United Nations Association in Canada.

Deadline For Graduation Photos November 12th

"McGill students are to be warmly congratulated for their excellent cooperation with us this year. I cannot remember a time when so many graduates pictures were taken so early in the year."

This what Mr. Lake of Van Dyck's Studio said today.

So far 668 photos have been taken and there are approximately 350 more to be done. The last deadline for graduation photos is November 12th, and those remaining 350 students are urged to go at once to Van Dyck's and have this matter attended to. Mr. Lake wishes to stress the fact that the Studio is open until 9 in the evenings on Tuesday and Thursday for the convenience of those students who attend lectures all day.
